ECHOES FROM THE DRILL ROOMS.

IMPROVEMENT OF THE 22 BATTERY—PREPARING TO GO TO THE STATE CAMP—PROMOTIONS.

The 9th Regiment's fund for the erection of monuments on the battlefield of Gettysburg and at Woodlawn Cemetery is steadily increasing. Colonel W. R. Hayden of the Lyceum Theatre, has offered to give a benefit for the fund, to take place on Saturday evening, April 30, at which Miss Davy will appear.

The 22nd Battery of Artillery, Captain Ferdinand P. Earle, has been organized into a six-gun battery, two twelve-pound Napoleons having been added to the four Gatlings. First Lieutenant David Wilson has been assigned by Captain Earle to command the new platoon, which will have the right of the line. After drill last Tuesday night three new names were added to the roll, increasing the total membership to 101. Captain Earle had promised a love-feast when the organization should reach 100; so the "pop-pow" will come off at the armory after drill next Tuesday night. The present army has been leased for another year and during that time it is the intention of the officers to push a project to have an army built especially for the battery, which will include all the conveniences, with a riding school attached. The battery intends to go to rearmour during the summer and practice with the Gatlings and 50,000 ball-cartridges have been furnished. The practice will be more for accuracy and precision than for rapidity.

The 9th Regiment will parade in full uniform at the armory on Tuesday, April 26, for battalion drill and to receive the marksmen's badges of the State. Captain Theodore H. Swift, of Company D, heads the list of the marksmen of 1886 with a score of forty-three was at the champion matches.

New military organizations have been formed and mustered into the State service as follows: the 24th Separate Company at Middleton, attached to the Third Brigade; the 43d Separate Company at Olean, attached to the Fourth Brigade. The former was mustered in on March 28 and the latter on March 29.

The resignations of Captains Rhesa Griffin, of the 40th Separate Company, and Leander V. Roberts, of the 47th Regiment, First Lieutenant Alfred W. Redfern, of the 14th Regiment, and Second Lieutenants Daniel A. Skinner, of the 11th Regiment, Gustaf F. Smith, of the 13th Separate Company, Charles F. Hicks, of the 47th Regiment, Robert J. Knox, of the 30th Separate Company, and William J. Clarke, of the 14th Separate Company, have been accepted by the Commander-in-Chief.

Colonel William Seward, Jr., of the 9th Regiment, announces in his orders the resignation of Second Lieutenant Daniel A. Skinner, the assignment to duty with the regiment of Captain G. Henry Withers, recently rendered supernumerary, and that warrants have been given to the following non-commissioned officers: First Sergeant William F. J. Higgins, Company I; Sergeants Charles Mosher and James M. Macconnell, both of Company II, and Corporals Robert Greenleaf, of Company H, and Abram L. Arona, of Company F.

The following officers have been discharged from the National Guard of the State: Colonel Thomas S. Wand, 65th Regiment, under the recommendation of and for failure to appear before the State Examining Board; First Lieutenant Roland E. Parker, 11th Regiment, upon recommendation of the State Examining Board; and Second Lieutenant William N. Toshack, 3d Battery, also upon the recommendation of the Board.

General Orders No. 9, issued from the Adjutant-General's office, grant permission to enter and pass through New-York State, armed and equipped, to all military organizations in the United States destined to arrive at Washington from April 23 to May 30.

The survivors of the 6th Regiment, New-York Volunteers (Duryee Zouaves), are preparing for trip to New-York to participate in a review of honor to the memory of General Gouverneur K. Warren, formerly colonel of the regiment, who lies buried there.

The following committee has charge of the arrangements: George W. Duryee, Captain; Abram H. Thompson, Lt. Colonel; William H. Horton, secretary; Maurice F. Sullivan, Andrew Coats and A. A. Marvin.
